AIPG History will be found throughout this publication.

This photograph, taken from a Bell 206 Jet Ranger, and looking northwest, shows several eskers and kames in the Kivalliq (Keewatin) District of Nunavut, Canada. The direction of meltwater flow and glacier movement was northwest, away from the viewer. The area is about 143 kilometers northwest of Baker Lake, and is notable for its uranium occurrences in a variety of geologic settings. Prospecting for uranium often relies on well-developed boulder trains of mineralized erratics eroded from bedrock sources. UTMG coordinates are 7238000 meters north and 543500 meters east. Photo compliments of Bob Stewart, CPG-08332.

AIPG Publication Policy, October 4, 2010. AIPG encourages submission of articles and editorials for publication in TPG on topics related to the science and profession of geology. Submittals shall be of interest to the members of AIPG, other professional geologists, and others interested in the earth sciences. Articles and editorials may be noted as follows at the discretion of the Editor, "The opinions, positions and conclusions presented herein are those of the author and do not necessarily reflect the opinions, positions or conclusions of the American Institute of Professional Geologists." All materials submitted for publication, including author opinions contained therein, shall include accurate and appropriate references. The Editor has the authority to solicit, edit, accept, or reject articles and editorials and other written material for publication. The Executive Committee has the authority if it so chooses to act on any particular case to support or overrule actions of the Editor regarding the solicitation, editing, acceptance, or rejection of any particular article, editorial, or other written material for publication.

American Institute of Professional Geologists (AIPG) is the only national organization that certifies the competence and ethical conduct of geological scientists in all branches of the science. It adheres to the principles of professional responsibility and public service, and is the ombudsman for the geological profession. It was founded in 1963 to promote the profession of geology and to provide certification for geologists to establish a standard of excellence for the profession. Since then, more than 10,000 individuals have demonstrated their commitment to the highest levels of competence and ethical conduct and been certified by AIPG.

The mission of the American Institute of Professional Geologists (AIPG) is to be an effective advocate for the profession of geology and to serve its members through activities and programs that support continuing professional development and promote high standards of ethical conduct.

The Professional Geologist (USPS 590-810 and ISSN 0279-0521) is published bi-monthly by the American Institute of Professional Geologists, 12000 Washington St., Suite 285, Thornton, CO 80241-3134. Periodicals Postage Paid at Denver, Colorado and additional mailing offices.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to The Professional Geologist, AIPG, 12000 Washington St., Suite 285, Thornton, CO 80241. Subscriptions for all Members and Adjuncts in good standing are included in annual membership dues. Subscription prices are $20.00 a year for Members' additional subscriptions and $30.00 a year for non-members for 6 issues (for postage outside of the U.S. add $10.00). Single copy price is $4.00 for Members and $6.00 for non-members. Claims for nonreceipt or for damaged copies are honored for three months.

Entire contents copyright 2013 by The Professional Geologist. Original material may be reprinted with permission. Deadline for articles and advertisements is six weeks preceding publication. Advertising rates available upon request. Opinions and views expressed by the authors are their own and do not necessarily reflect those of the American Institute of Professional Geologists, its staff, or its advertisers.
